I can't get around the fact that the. The maximum size of the images to export is 10,000,000. Or using image quality settings in the GIMP program and compressing the file using that. I am not sure if I have to redo the conversion to use the 10,000,000 limit (so instead of exporting 10,000 photos at once, I would need to do 1,000) I will see. I really don't want to redo the 10,000 photos every time I want to do a bulk export. How to Get the Modded File from the Website AP the Mordad 10, 1398 Microsoft Dot Net Framework 4.5.2? Could there be a way to limit the image size without having to re-convert the entire list? The converted file size is over 10,000,000 bytes, and I am trying to do them all at once, but it keeps doing the rest of them one by one. Can anyone help me with this? I would really appreciate it. In order to make sure it is not a limitation of the website, when I do it as the original batch of images, it produces the same batch as a 10,000 image batch of photos (not sure what the actual limit is). Also, I have the right-click and save as function, and the limits are not even close to 10,000,000. Thank you Click to expand... Hi, the AP modded file comes with several images and is maybe a little larger than the normal one. for example look at the 2nd row where they say "Last edited by Mordad 10, 1398". the second image is 676*500 px and the third one is 676*404px. the sum is around 900kb. you could try to export it as it is but that might not be what you want. you could try the following steps. 1. choose the image size, e.g. 676*404px 2. save the image on your disk, then open the file in a program such as fotoxx or gimp. 3. use some filters, cut off parts of the picture and save the image back. repeat this until all the images you need are saved in a single file. 4. delete all your pictures. re: Mordad 10, 1398 Could there 82157476af
